Republicans Not to Field a Candidate For Place on Council with Cornforth

For the first time since anybody can remember—maybe the first time ever—Borough Republicans will run only one candidate instead of two, for the two seats available this year on Borough Council.

Republicans announced this week that they planned to give "full support to a single candidate." The candidate is Charles Cornforth, who served two terms on Council, from 1967 through 1972.

Charles Cornforth
The Lone Eagle

Originally, Republicans had the two candidates they needed. But John L. Hammer Jr. withdrew his candidacy on August 1, citing the press of business and family and remarking, in his letter of withdrawal:

"I am not certain that my nerves could take the annoyingly petty issues that seem to be arising in the day-to-day government of the municipality." Mr. Hammer is famous for the blunt, outspoken nature of his public remarks.

The party faced the same problem two years ago when Maurice F. Healy withdrew as a candidate. That year, Republicans found somebody to take his place on the ticket, but not this time.

People who like to talk local politics are suggesting that Mr. Hammer was a kind of volunteer sacrificial lamb. If the Republicans had filed only one candidate for the June primaries, somebody—maybe an undesirable somebody—with only ten write-in votes could have become the party's perfectly legal candidate and Mr. Cornforth's running-mate.

If Mr. Hammer did indeed agree to file for the primaries, stipulating that he be allowed to withdraw, the Republicans would be spared that potentially difficult situation.

The Democrats are running incumbent Richard Macgill and Alan Wallack. Asked whether the Republicans might throw their support to Mr. Macgill—a more likely candidate for Republican backing than Mr. Wallack—County Committee chairman Christine St. John would only say "No".

In the slow swing of time, Republicans in the Borough now find themselves where the Democrats were in the 1940s. It was not always easy to find a quorum of Democrats in the Borough, to say nothing of Democrats willing to run. In 1947, for example, Republican Charles R. Erdman Jr. was unopposed when he sought the position of mayor, a post he had held from 1936 to 1946.

Township Democrats used to have similar problems. In 1948, when no Democrat had run for office in the Township for some 20 years, Horatio Turner ran against Republican Albert Salzman with non-partisan support. Mr. Salzman easily won a fourth term on Committee.

Anonymous Buyer Wants to Purchase Firehouse On Chambers St. for Conversion into Office Space

Want to buy a firehouse?

It hasn't been on the market, but an anonymous inquirer has asked the Borough about buying the Chambers Street Firehouse, home of the Mercer Number Three volunteer fire company, for conversion to an office building.

No money has been mentioned; however, an appraiser familiar with Princeton property has suggested $200,000. If the Borough-owned building should be converted to commercial office space, it would go on the Borough's tax rolls. As a firehouse, the structure is tax-exempt. The revaluation about to take place will assess all property—even tax-exempt properties—so that value will be known, even for land and buildings that do not pay taxes.

"It's only an inquiry so far," is the cautious remark of William Karch, a company officer serving as secretary of Number Three. "It's a public building and as such, I think you'd have to have sealed bids and who knows? The inquirer might not even win."

The prospective purchaser approached Borough Council member William Selden, who is fire commissioner. Mr. Selden's colleagues on Council decided to refer the request to the Joint Fire Commissioners for broad review.

Monday night, Mr. Selden met with line officers and company officers of Number Three and says he found them in a "well, let's consider it" frame of mind.

"The Borough is very sensitive to how Number Three would feel," Mr. Karch says. "After all, they own the building and they could decide without even consulting us."

Sale of the firehouse is linked to the Joint Commission's plans for studying fire protection and how it will have to change as the community grows. This inquiry has simply moved that study higher on the Commission's agenda, Mr. Karch points out.

Mr. Selden lists some of the things that must be discussed as Council begins negotiations with the buyer.

- Where should Princeton's fire stations be, in light of the growth of the whole community, Borough and Township? (There are two other stations besides Mercer Number Three. Hook and Ladder is on North Harrison Street and Princeton Number One on Chestnut Street. There are no houses in the Township.)

- If the location of firehouses is changed, what effect does this have on insurance rates?

- What would be the cost of a new firehouse, replacing the Chambers Street one?

- What's the relationship between firehouse locations and where the volunteer fire-fighters live?

- What's the relationship between firehouses and transportation routes?

Firehouses are not embedded in concrete for all time. Number Three used to be on Mercer Street—hence its name. Then it was moved to Chambers Street, across from where it is now. In 1932, the WPA built the present firehouse.

Hook and Ladder used to be where the Army Navy Store now is on Witherspoon, but in the immediate post-World War II years when traffic on Witherspoon began to thicken, the new house was constructed on North Harrison.

WISHFUL THINKING: Only in Princeton would it occur to someone to climb the 100-foot water tower between Merwick and John Street to paint this four-letter word in orange letters. Old Grog was the nickname of an English admiral in the 1750's who ordered the sailors' rum diluted with water. Term was an allusion to his program cloak. (Thomas Graves photo)

Comfort for Council

Since Borough records go back only to 1963, it's not possible to tell with certainty when it last was that a ticket was incomplete. Whatever the year, it was certainly the Democratic ticket that was scant. This year's situation is clearly a Republican "first."

Firehouse for Sale?

"Members of fire companies realize that the town is growing, and that our needs change," Mr. Karch says, "and I don't believe that Council, in building another firehouse, would give us less than what we now have."

The building is a sturdy one. It has a large den-like recreation room with fireplace in the basement, and a handsome, souvenir-filled meeting room on the second floor. Tradition, Mr. Karch points out, is important to fire company members.

Line officers of Number Three are Edward Kopp (chief); Thomas Johnson (foreman); Raymond Wadsworth and Clint Groover (assistant foremen). Company officers are George Duryea, president; George Pierre, vice-president; Harry Wright, treasurer, and Mr. Karch.

The Joint (Borough-Township) Fire Commission is a relatively new body. Mr. Selden is chairman, Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney is secretary. Other members are Township Mayor Josie Hall (who is also Township fire commissioner); Gene McPartland; Mrs. Gran Green and Richard Fowler. Fire Chief William Anderson and First Assistant Fire Chief Edward Kopp are also members, and so is the immediate past chief, Anthony Krystaponis.

"I want to think about the whole thing positively," Mr. Karch says "who knows? With a change, we might increase our efficiency and productivity."

MORE ON GARAGE

Design Expert Urged. "Princeton is being designed by opinion," says Samuel M. Hamill Jr., executive director of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council in a letter urging Borough Council to hire a "community design" specialist.

Meanwhile, Mayor Robert W. Cawley said Monday that he hopes by next week to have more definite plans on the future of a parking garage, following discussions with Council members Nelson van den Blink and Richard Woodbridge, who are on his parking committee.

In the letter--whose solution is "Friends"--Mr. Hamill writes that "even the opinions of Planning Board and Borough Council members, informed and knowledgeable about the community as they are, cannot replace the explicit and systematic design process followed by trained community design professionals. This approach can trace and evaluate the consequences of opinions."

Last week, Mayor Cawley said the Borough's "in-house professionals"--including engineer George Olexa and planner Carleton Ryffel--thought the Borough could do the work of a community design professional by itself with the staff on hand.

But Mr. Hamill believes that, although Princeton has "a thoughtfully-prepared and duly-adopted plan for the Central Business District," it lacks a community design framework that would show explicitly and in detail, how the broad concepts of the master plan can be implemented."

Assets Listed. The MSM executive says that, in the study council's view, Princeton's greatest asset is its ambience, followed closely by access.

Congestion is not acute, he warns, but traffic levels are critical, at times turning away visitors and people who might spend money here.

"Improved transit is the long-range answer," he writes, "but there is an unquestioned present need for improved parking."

Princeton can't hope to imitate the shopping malls, he says, "It must excel, if it is to survive."

Questions to ask regarding a garage proposal, he continues, are how the garage relates to its surroundings, whether it improves pedestrian-automotive circulation patterns, creates spaces that are pleasant and safe to walk through or stop in, relates functionally--as well as aesthetically--to neighboring buildings, and whether it raises or destroys property values in nearby areas.

A community design expert, Mr. Hamill believes, could consider these. Such a professional might cost "several tens of thousands of dollars;" not a large sum, he suggests compared to the $4.5 million cost of a garage and the millions more in private commitments that turn on the success or failure of a garage project.

He estimates three to six months to complete the framework in which decisions can be made.

"We are not proposing a study," he emphasizes, "we are proposing a problem-solving process involving experienced professionals, the elected and appointed boards and the community at large."

Towns that have successfully retained community design experts, Mr. Hamill says, are Cape May; Kalamazoo, Michigan; and Corning, New York.

BOND ORDINANCE DEAD
But Garage Still "Lives."
The $4.7 million garage bond ordinance was wiped out Tuesday night by Borough Council, which unanimously decided to clear the slate rather than let the measure slide along and be amended when a new garage plan is proposed. Council erased the measure because it is unlikely that a new garage will cost exactly as much as the defeated one.

"Defeat of this ordinance doesn't mean a garage project is terminated," commented Richard Woodbridge, and Mayor Robert W. Cawley said, "None of us has abandoned the idea that there will be a garage."

An earlier zoning regulation for off-street parking was carried over to October, joined by a new ordinance allowing businesses to use, for employee parking, a remote lot and shuttle bus.

The ordinance implies a pool, or "bank" of spaces in a parking yard. If there are, say, 40 spaces and one business is allotted 10, subsequent applicants would draw on a pool of only 30.

Mayor Cawley repeated his hope that Council will have a decision on a garage in about 10 days. "How to involve the community, I don't yet know," he acknowledged.

Ann McGoldrick, from the audience, suggested Park-and-Shop on the library lot, and long-term parking on the Tulane lot as a Christmas-shopping help to merchants.

IN HARMONY: Preparing for the Watersheds Association barn warming and dance this Saturday are John and William Hollister, Rebecca Bleiman and Liza Reed. Singing with Caroline Mosely and folk dancing with Gerry Kaplan will follow field trips and geology and pond life demonstrations at the newly-renovated small barn on Wargo Road, Hopewell Township.

Mayor Cawley said it would be unwise to invest, short-term, in equipment when the library lot may yet be used for a garage. Present Park-and-Shop facilities lost money for the first two years, he added.

An ordinance lowering speed on Pine from 25 to 15 was introduced. Members of the Traffic Safety Committee rejected the idea of changing the one-way direction, but recommended the 15 m.p.h.

LOMBARDO TO STAY

At Council's Urging, Martin P. Lombardo, Borough Council's representative on the Planning Board, has agreed to stay on the board, Mayor Cawley and Mr. Vierno and Council was scheduled to move unanimously on Tuesday night that he be urged to do so.

Mr. Lombardo offered his resignation at last Tuesday's Planning Board meeting during a heated exchange involving an application he had filed with the board for conversion of a house at 53 Tulane. Mr. Lombardo and a partner want to convert the single-family residence to an apartment unit, an aptment up-stairs and office space downstairs.

Mr. Lombardo disqualified himself when his case came up. Board member Jerome Rose declared that the board shouldn't even hear Mr. Lombardo's application, as presented by the Lombardo lawyer, Thomas C. Jamieson Jr.

Dr. Rose declared that if the board heard the application of one of its members, the public might take this as evidence of "a cozy relationship among board members."

No one who invests in real estate in Princeton should serve on the Planning Board, Dr. Rose said.

Defense Offered. "That's an extreme position," replied Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, who also sits on the Planning Board. Mayor Cawley told his press conference this week that, while he sympathized with the principle of the board's concern, he felt the board "can stand an occasional appearance of conflict of interest."

Allen Porter, Planning Board counsel, said legal requirements were met by Mr. Lombardo's disqualifying himself. It was the "appearance" of conflict, an ethical matter, Mr. Porter said.

The board then voted on whether to go ahead with Mr. Lombardo's application. The vote was 6-2-2, with Mayor Cawley and Ralph Vierno voting to proceed, and Karl Light and Elizabeth Hutter abstaining. Mr. Lombardo had already withdrawn.

Then the board voted on whether to postpone the hearing until the October meeting. In the 8-2 vote that decided to postpone, again Mayor Cawley and Mr. Vierno voted "no."

Mr. Lombardo declared that he had been treated unfairly, and in a different way from others who make applications to the board.

Hard Line To Draw. "Marty was so frustrated!" Mayor Cawley remarked to the press. "I think his investment is a single act—he's not a systematic developer. My personal view is that an out-and-out developer should not serve, but it's hard to know how to draw the line."

The Planning Board may, between now and its October 3 meeting, discuss the question of ethical standards and Mayor Cawley said Council will, also. Mr. Lombardo, as Council's appointee, cannot be forced to resign from the board, the mayor said.

BRIDGE CAN BE FIXED

...But Not Right Away. You'll have to detour around the Stony Brook bridge on Mercer Road for at least another six months, warns Mercer County Engineer Donald T. Harney, but consultants say the old bridge, closed since May, can probably be repaired well enough to sustain traffic once again.

It would cost $165,000 to strengthen the bridge with a new concrete arch under the existing roadway, engineer A.M. Ouzoonian of Weidinger Associates told a gathering of county and Princeton Township officials last Wednesday.

Mr. Ouzoonian's report was an interim one. A final report is expected this week.

The original clay used when the bridge was built 169 years ago, doesn't allow water to drain away. Mr. Ouzoonian explained. This means that ice has formed, cracking the walls and arches of the structure.

He warned that renovation would mean narrowing the span by about one foot, and installing a wooden railing on the top of the bridge to meet current safety requirements. The consultant told the meeting that final design plans would take six weeks and actual construction four and one-half months.

Barbara Sigmund, Mercer County Freeholder who lives in Princeton, has urged that bridge repairs be treated as an emergency, thereby bypassing routine bidding procedures; however, county administrator Daniel Mennella says no time would be saved if this procedure were followed.

Mercer County must obtain approval from the State Historic Sites Council and the Department of Environmental Protection before proceeding with construction. The bridge is a registered historic landmark.

REVALUATION COMING

To Start Soon. Revaluation of all properties in both Borough and Township will begin shortly, following acceptance by the two governing bodies of a bid from P.R.C. Jacobs of McLean, Virginia.

Township Committee approved the $66,181 bid at its meeting last Wednesday and Borough Council was scheduled to approve the Borough's $48,991 share at its meeting this Tuesday night. Borough Council will have to appropriate an additional $5,000 for its revaluation because the original budgeted amount was only $45,000. At last Thursday's agenda session, Council tied, 3-3, on whether to accept the Jacobs bid.

Members Nelson van den Blink, Richard Macgill and Martin Lombardo wanted to see whether, by going it alone without the Township, the Borough might obtain a lower Summer will run until September 23 but fall is due to get an early start—at least for the rest of this week the Man is telling us. Tuesday's readings in the 80s were scheduled to give way to a marked drop in temperature, and that will be followed by rain.

Partly cloudy weather Thursday is forecast to give way to precipitation late in the day, with Friday expected to be wet most of the time. A clearing trend is expected for the weekend, but all thermometer readings will be below normal for late summer.

figure. Mayor Robert W. Cawley broke the tie by joining with those who wanted to accept the Jacobs bid.

The Township, which budgeted $70,000, does not face an additional appropriation to meet the cost.

KEEP THOSE TREES

Developers Urged. It was drainage night last Wednesday at Township Committee's meeting, and it looks like sewer night this Wednesday, with discussion of both the Heather Lane and Autumn Hill Road sewer requests on the agenda.

This Wednesday, Committee will also hold public hearing on a state-required ordinance prohibiting parking 200 feet from State Road on the new Mountain Avenue Extension.

Committee will also discuss a Traffic Safety Committee recommendation that parking be prohibited on both sides of Mountain Avenue Extension all the way from State Road to the intersection of what's left of Bayard Lane, and to prohibit parking also on the north side of Mountain Avenue itself, between Bayard Lane and Pardoe Road.

Last Wednesday, Committee amended, 5-0, requirements for surface-water drainage of sites under development. The amendment adjusts to the fact that residential developments, with perhaps one house on a large lot, have different drainage situations from commercial projects with their blacktop parking lots and greater density of development.

Under the amendment, residential developers may now be relieved of strict requirements to dig retention basins if they agree to leave a high proportion of the property in "unrestricted natural over"—trees and undergrowth.

"It's cheaper to keep natural growth than to build basins," remarked Mayor Josie Hall.

Restrictions Cited. People who buy lots from these developers would find a deed restriction limiting the amount of land they could clear away. Assistant Engineer Bhagwan Dass protested that buyers wouldn't like this idea, and that it would be impossible to enforce. Committee member William Cherry wanted to know whether householders would be allowed to clear away poison ivy or ragweed.

"The Township engineer won't watch from behind every tree to make sure you don't remove poison-ivy,"

"What the individual owner who buys from a developer does, isn't vital," commented Robert Englebrecht of the Environmental Design Review Committee, "Construction is the bad time. And it won't be hard to sell this to people--it's why they like Princeton in the first place."

The ordinance amended doesn't apply to an individual who buys a lot, only to developers.

Opposition Exists. This discussion roused Committee's continuing dismay over run-off from Redding Terrace construction at Mr. Lucas and Ewing.

"Tell the construction engineer to solve the problem or we'll stop construction!" exclaimed Hugo Hoogenboom, "The Township has a responsibility to be especially diligent because of all the neighbors' opposition to this project."

Legally, Committee member Hoogenboom was told, the Township must get a court order, and Mr. Dass explained that the Township would have to "show cause" to the contractor, or be taken to court.

that a maroon car had pulled out of Lovers Lane in front of him.

He braked but when he saw he couldn't stop in time, he steered into the opposite lane and struck a car head-on driven by Joanna J. Ingham, 40, Woodsville Road, Hopewell. Mrs. Ingham was treated at Princeton Medical Center for lacerations of the head. Both cars had to be towed away.

A car and a cyclist were involved in a mishap last week at Poe Road and Shady Brook Lane.

Police report that Lesley N. Fishelman, 34, 241 Snowden Lane, was stopped or coming to a stop on Poe, when Robert A. Ellis, 18 White Pine Lane, a 19-year old cyclist, made a wide turn from Shady Brook into her lane, striking her left front fender.

The impact caused Mr. Ellis to slide along the fender and hood of her car into the windshield. He was treated at the Medical Center for bruises and abrasions of the neck. There were no police charges.

FREEZER IS STOLEN

From Back Yard. "It's amazing how people will help themselves to things that don't belong to them," commented Chief Michael Carnevale this week, as he reported the larceny Monday of a small freezer from a back yard.

He reported that a Spring Street resident had removed the freezer to the yard to defrost it. While it was there, someone stole it.

A Princeton resident lost four squash rackets and athletic clothing with a combined value of $190 Monday when someone cut the combination lock to his locker in Dillon Gym.

OPEN FRIDAY TIL 9 P.M.

NO PIG IN A POKE, HE: Sam deTuro (right) owner of Woodwinds, knew exactly what he wanted when he asked Albert Toto Jr. of Toto's Market to special-order a suckling pig for a company pig roast last weekend. "Our first annual", said Mr. deTuro. He added that he had roasted one about 20 years ago and had always wanted to do it again, "but my wife has discouraged me that long". Glancing at the 46-lb. suckling, Mr. deTuro observed, "he might be as tall as I am but he doesn't outweigh me."

with stealing a Federal Express delivery van and with possession of a concealed, dangerous weapon.

Michael J. White was held in $10,000 bail and turned over to a parole officer when it was discovered he was also in violation of parole. He is scheduled to appear in Borough Court next Wednesday.

According to police, off-duty detective Gerald Patterson saw a van being pursued by a man on Tulane Street. The van attempted to exit on Tulane but was blocked by a car.

Det. Patterson then observed the driver and his pursuer engage in a scuffle and when the driver bolted from the van and ran in his direction, he tackled and subdued him.

The man chasing the truck, who was not identified by police, told Det. Patterson he was making deliveries in this area and had parked his van in the Witherspoon Street lot while he went into a restaurant to get a sandwich.

Brothers Charged. Two Red Oak Row residents, Concepcion Rodriguez and his 22-year old brother, Luciano, were arrested a few minutes before midnight Thursday and charged with creating a disturbance while under the influence of alcohol.

They allegedly had thrown bottles in the roadway in the area of Linden Lane and Nassau Street and were arrested by Ptl. James Stanton and Det. Ronald Holliday. Later released, they are scheduled to appear in court here next Wednesday.

SNEAK THIEF GETS $55

From Pocketbook. A sneak thief entered an unlocked rear door of a College Road home, Friday afternoon and made off with $55.

An apartment dweller, police said, she had been on the front lawn with her children and had noticed a suspicious man cut across the lawns of homes and look into windows. He cut across her apartment and a short while later, police added, she discovered her rear door had been entered and the money missing from her purse.

The suspect was described as in his early 20's, six feet tall, medium build with a sash around his waist.

CONTAINER IGNITES

Hot Ashes Blamed. Hot ashes from a fireplace were blamed for a fire early Sunday morning in a plastic garbage container at 210 Linden Lane.

The fire was put out by police, who responded to the 2:55 call and confined it to the container, although police said a wall of the house was also scorched. The container was located in a carport. The owner told police that he had placed coal ashes from the fireplace in the plastic container around 9 the previous evening. One piece of fire apparatus from Engine Company No. 1 assisted.

7 BICYCLES STOLEN

Two Vandalized. Bicycles are always a popular item with thieves but it seems that last week was open season in the Borough. Chief Michael Carnevale reported seven bicycles stolen, most of them expensive 10-speed models. All but one was unlocked.

In addition, two more bicycles were the targets of vandals.

A $150 10-speed model was stolen from in front of the High School; another, also valued at $150, from a Forrester Drive driveway in the evening; and a third from the high school grounds again. In the latter case, the owner saw the thief riding her bicycle up Chestnut Street. He was described as a male with long, dirty-blond hair. The bike was a girl's yellow Raleigh 10-speed valued at $120.

Two bikes were taken from a front lawn of a home on lower Nassau Street: a girl's 3-speed green Raleigh and a child's blue Raleigh. Lower Nassau was again the site of a red 10-speed Raleigh taken on Sunday. Its value: $157.

The only bicycle stolen that was locked was reported Friday by a Clay Street resident. He told police his $175, red 10-speed had been locked and chained to a tree, but to no avail.

Two bikes were vandalized, one on Monday while it stood at Princeton High near the school's front arch. Both wheels were bent and five spokes broken in the front wheel.

Two days earlier, a girl's three-speed valued at $107 was damaged while the owner was attending class at PHS. Seven spokes were cut in the rear wheel and one in the front.

LET'S

LEAF-SUCKING PESTS RETARD GROWTH OF TREES AND SHRUBS

with Sam deTuro

Mites, psyllids, leafhoppers, lace bugs and aphids are busily at work on trees and shrubs.

They do untold damage from spring till well into Indian Summer, removing plant juices, causing chlorophyll to disappear, and often causing a distorted appearance to the new growth.

Rhododendron, Azalea, Andromeda and Firethorn leaves become chlorotic, mottled, unhealthy. Lace bugs, with tiny gray oval bodies and gossamer-like flat wings, are sucking juices from the underside of leaves.

Hosts of Evergreens are yellowing and browning. It's likely the work of red spider (the two-spotted mite) and aphids, all sucking plant juices.

Turn over a low-hanging Copper Beech leaf. It may be white with a woolly aphid. The underside of a Birch leaf may be gray with another kind of aphid. Aphids also cause leaves of Maple and Apple to crinkle and shrivel.

Notice how dusty leaves of some Oak, Hickory, Sour Gum, Silver Maple, Elm and Birch have become. It's mite damage, and hundreds of mites may be crowded on the surface of a single leaf, all sucking vital juices.

In addition to spraying, those plants affected should be fed now to minimize damage.

Excess Noise Planes Make at Princeton Airport Protested by Residents of Montgomery Township

As the result of a traffic over unoccupied farmland and away from the Cherrybrook Drive-Cherry Hill Road residential area. The pattern calls for a turn to the left only after the plane has crossed Cherry Hill Road. Incoming planes are supposed to stay west of Cherry Hill Road and to fly their downwind leg south of Cherry Valley Road. The incoming pattern specifies a left turn toward the airport only when the plane is well into Mercer County.

Richard Haitch, who is himself a licensed pilot, became particularly aware of the number and loudness of planes while painting his house during his vacation

Richard Haitch, a writer and copyeditor for the New York Times, who is himself a licensed pilot, became particularly aware of the number and loudness of planes while painting his house. With the Times unable to publish because of the strike, he decided to investigate.

He found that a key condition which the original airport owners, Lawrence Tokash and Webster Todd, Jr. agreed to when they applied for a permit to operate an enlarged airport with a paved runway was that "the proposed use will assure the adjoining property owners that there will be no interference with their property by reason of noise, vibration, dust or other annoyances."

In a five-page letter to Montgomery Township officials, Mr. Haitch claims that there are "daily and persistent violations of the airport's noise abatement traffic pattern. As a result," he says, "aircraft that should be nowhere near Cherrybrook Drive continually fly over this area, creating unwanted noise and safety hazards that are simply illegal."

The noise abatement pattern for Princeton Airport calls for pilots to turn 10 degrees to the right immediately after leaving the main west runway, numbered 28. This funnels the outgoing Princeton Pattern is Atypical. "Mr. Haitch points out that these patterns are contrary to what pilots usually do. 'At most airports, they do not turn to the right after leaving a runway,' he notes, 'they turn to the left.' Compliance with the noise abatement pattern depends heavily on the need to notify pilots that at Princeton Airport the turn is to the right after leaving Runway 28, he says.

There is no public notice at the entrance and exit of the main terminal building to alert pilots of the special conditions here, and only a small diagram of the pattern is posted in the pilot's lounge, which Mr. Haitch thinks is insufficient. Outside, he says, there is one small weathered sign off the runway, also inadequate in Mr. Haitch's view.

What is needed, he thinks, is a bigger sign, lighted at night and placed on the taxiway where pilots can pause to read it. He also suggests a vigorous enforcement program. An even better alternative, Mr. Haitch thinks, would be to change the traffic pattern to a full right-hand pattern in which planes would be required to turn 90 degrees to the right after leaving the runway.

This would require clearance with the Federal Aviation Administration, but Mr. Haitch thinks approval would be readily forthcoming. There is no reason, he says, why light aircraft—the only type authorized to operate at Princeton Airport—need more than a mile they now receive to leave or enter the Princeton traffic pattern. "Straight-out" takeoffs and "straight-in" landings are more typical of what airliners require, he says.

Other Violations Cited. Other airport violations alleged in Mr. Haitch's complaint, based on his random observations, include a rusted, broken down red Jeep that may have been intended as the promised fire unit, and the lack of a water tower or other water reservoir. Mr. Haitch is also annoyed by two high-intensity flashing lights which are turned on every night and which he says are completely unnecessary in an airport that operates under Visual Flight Rules only.

A full hearing was held last Thursday at which eight Cherrybrook Drive residents appeared and spoke in support of Mr. Haitch's allegations. One problem seems to be that the current owner, Dick Van Dyke, who was unable to attend the hearing, has said he was unaware of the conditions placed on the airport operation when he took over from the original owners.

Legal Questions. As a result of the hearing, Montgomery Township and Mr. Van Dyke are digging into records to see exactly what legal obligations the airport has for noise and safety and what "legal teeth," as Mayor Grey Jones put it, the Township might have to obtain compliance from the airport. Mayor Grey noted that while the airport might have made glowing promises in its application, unless those promises were made a condition of the zoning variance, Montgomery Township might be powerless to enforce them.

A plan is expected to be presented at the next Committee meeting on September 21.

Barbara L. Otway, a resident of Princeton and a 1974 graduate of Hun, has been selected as the first Hun School Teaching Fellow. A one-year appointment, the Teaching Fellowship is designed to encourage college graduates to become secondary school teachers and to help prepare them for a career in teaching. Working under the supervision of many sights, sounds, traditions and ways of life have vanished during the last few decades," Ms. Cobb says. "Only by recapturing them in words can they be savored by future generations," she thinks. The workshop is free and no previous writing experience is necessary. Ms. Cobb believes that anyone can write if he or she really wants to. For further information call her at 924-3297 or Jocelyn Helm at the Senior Resource Center, 924-7108.

THE NEXT THREE YEARS WILL BE CRITICAL FOR PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

- ☐ The End of the Sewer Moratorium
- the resumption of pressures for development
- ☐ The adoption of the Master Plan
- which will determine the nature of Township growth
- ☐ Inflation
- requiring careful determination of priorities within Township budget limitations.
- ☐ Consolidation of Borough and Township
- if approved by the voters, will require careful consideration of Township commitments for the future

THE NEXT THREE YEARS WILL NEED PROVEN LEADERSHIP

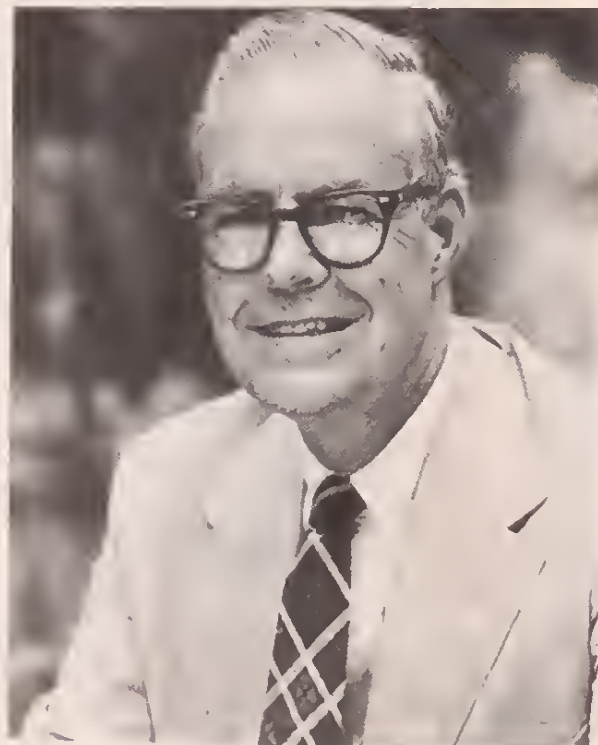

JOSIE HALL majored in government at Vassar and at Pomona College and has been an active and energetic resident of the Township since 1959. She served on the Joint Recreation Board and the original Citizens' Advisory Commission on Housing; has been a co-president of the Princeton Art Association; an officer of S.A.V.E.; and has headed many committees for the Princeton Hospital Fete.

Josie is completing her first term on Township Committee; her second year as Mayor; her third year as Police and Fire Commissioner. In addition to performing the many duties as Mayor, with special attention to improving police communications and fire protection, Josie is a member of the Planning Board and its Land Use Committee and has spent extra time and effort on regional matters.

GEORGE ADRIANCE, a World War II Army veteran and a graduate of Williams, has chalked up an impressive record of community leadership since moving to Princeton in 1957. He has been budget chairman and then president of the United Fund, president of Kiwanis; treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce; and a warden of Trinity Church. Not surprisingly, he received an annual Gerard B. Lambert Community Service Award.

"Geo" lives in the Township and works in the Borough. He knows, and has worked hard for, both communities. He is committed to insuring that reason will prevail over emotion in the issues facing both Princetons.

A separate series will be offered on Tuesdays starting at 8 at the Wicoff School in Plainsboro as part of the West Windsor Plainsboro Adult School. The first session will be on Tuesday.

NAMED DIRECTOR

Of Development at University. Charles L. Taggart of 57 Cleveland Lane, deputy director of development at Princeton University since 1974, has been named director of development at the university. Mr. Taggart succeeds Gerald W. Patrick, who has assumed a vice-presidency at Hampshire College in Amherst, Mass.

In his new position, he will plan, implement, and oversee staff activities designed to obtain the capital and program-designated funds to meet current and future needs of the university. This work will be planned and carried out in close consultation and cooperation with the council for University Resources, the alumni volunteer organization constituted by the trustees to organize and coordinate all fund-raising activities for the benefit of the university.

Mr. Taggart, 51, was graduated from Princeton in 1951 with an A.B. in architecture. He returned to the University in January 1959 to begin a career in the administration, following associations with a New York architectural firm and with a family real estate company in his native Oklahoma City. At Princeton, he worked first with the Alumni Council and Annual Giving, then in 1962 became director of the Princeton University Conference and summer programs.

In July 1965 he became secretary of the Alumni Council, a post he held until three years later, when he was appointed assistant dean of the Graduate School for administrative and financial affairs. He joined the Development Office in April 1973 as associate director of development and director of foundation relations.

DIET WORKSHOP SET

At University. Diet Workshop, a method of weight control, will be offered this year at Princeton University for students and townspeople alike. An open house will be held Wednesday, September 20, at 6:30 in Murray-Dodge Hall.

The Program is a combination of a balanced diet, behavior modification and exercise. For further information, call Therna Curtis, area director, 799-1863.

COURSE TO BE OFFERED
On Heart Health. The Department of Community Health Services and The Dietary Department of The Medical Center at Princeton will initiate a ten-week program on heart health. It will begin Tuesday at 7:30 in the Merwick Unit.

This program has been expanded and is particularly designed for post-coronary patients, individuals with high risk factors and their family and friends. The basic thrust, according to Axel Grabowsky, program volunteer, is to explain what coronary heart disease is and how to deal with it.

The program will be held at the Merwick Unit of The Medical Center beginning Tuesday at 7:30. The public is invited. For further information, call The Department of Community Health at 921-7700 Ext. 265.

Why Save: Their future is in your hands.

All too soon they're grown. And then it's off to college, marriage, their own lives to lead.

But through the years they'll depend on you for love and for financial help, help they'll need for their future.

For that future — and yours — save regularly. And save in the safest, most secure place possible... in a fully-insured savings plan at Princeton Savings.

We have just the way to save that's right for you. Both our regular day of deposit to day of withdrawal account and our higher-rated savings certificates offer you guaranteed high returns — and they're fully insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

You'll find the future is brighter... where people make the difference.

We have them all Pick the Rate—Pick the Time

7¾% a year	$5,000*	6 years
7½% a year	$5,000	4 years
6¾% a year	$2,500	2½ years
6½% a year	$1,000	2 years
6¼% a year	$1,000	1 year

The rate for Princeton Savings' six-month saving certificate is based on the average auction discount rate of six-month Treasury Bills. The actual return to U.S. Treasury Bill holders is higher than the discount rate on Treasury Bills. This rate changes weekly and is not guaranteed beyond the six-month maturity period.

All rates are compounded daily and payable quarterly. Regulations permit withdrawals from savings certificates before maturity provided rate of interest on amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings account rate and three months interest is forfeited.

September 5, 1978

DEAR FRIENDS OF THE MEDICAL CENTER AT PRINCETON:

On Tuesday, September 5, 1978, The Medical Center at Princeton received a letter from Joanne E. Finley, MD, New Jersey State Commissioner of Health, approving the Certificate of Need for renovation of the old Maternity Department to accommodate 30 medical and surgical beds.

We are pleased that the Medical Center, in order to better serve you, can now proceed with working drawings and renovation for these critically-needed beds. We thought you should know, that the delay will increase the cost of the project by approximately $63,000.00.

Again, my sincere appreciation to the thousands of friends of the Medical Center who supported our Certificate of Need request so enthusiastically. This positive report to you today would not have been possible without your cooperation and participation.

Very sincerely yours,

John W. Kauffman

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

(The following information was researched and written by members of the Regional Schools PTO Council, and the opinions expressed are not those of TOWN TOPICS.)

We are looking forward to the coming year with much enthusiasm. With the new "T&E" law and the privations of the budget, the PTO Council has banded together with a wonderful sense of sharing. Each and every PTO President is actively working to initiate new programs that will better coordinate community resources with the present curriculum. This educational and cultural enrichment can only benefit our children and the community at large.

We are grateful to the newspaper for their excellent coverage and cooperation and to all parents and the community - at - large for their continued support.

We are looking forward to this year and feel we should have one of the finest years in the history of the PTO Council and we all are happy to be associated with it.

Mrs. Joanne Ellis, President
PTO Councils

Paul D. Houston, Superintendent
Princeton Regional Schools

ORIENTATION IS THE name of the game for everyone these days. It started with new teachers on September first, freshmen and transfer students at PHS figured out schedules and classroom locations on September fifth; sixth graders got their first taste of middle school "belonging" the following day. In between the faculty geared up for action in a series of meetings for the district, school, and subject areas in addition to the '78-'79 professional growth programs. THE PHS-PTO HOSPITALITY committee coordinated a "Salad Bar" luncheon for high school staff during the noon break from PHS study and evaluation sessions last Wednesday. Nearly a hundred teachers, principals, and visitors joined the "toss - it - yourself" line in the school cafeteria.

BOTH NEWCOMERS AND OLDTIMERS can become frustrated when school problems develop. Not knowing whom to call can raise tempers to the boiling point. The following list may help make life a bit easier.

All calls about school transportation - busses, times, etc. go to Mr. Bennett at 924-9070.

All other school calls are dialed 924-5600 (before 4 p.m.). For pupil information, ask for the particular school your child attends; change of program for a student is made by the guidance department at PHS or JW, but by principals at the elementary level.

Handicapped or Special Education questions to Student Services; enrollment and general school information to assistant superintendent Paul Jennings, and Professional Growth Program to Cynthia Eaton.

Private or nursery school information is not available through Princeton Regional Schools offices - let your fingers do the walking through the yellow pages!

Finally, Golden Age cards for Senior Citizens are now available at the Recreation Department at Valley Road building rather than through the school offices as before.

PHS TEACHER Mrs. Gloria Seitz was elected President of the New Jersey Cooperative Office Education Coordinators' Association for the current school year. Locally she has been responsible for the PHS program, finding positions and students qualified to fill them, plus guidance and supervision overall.

IN PAYING TRIBUTE to retirees last June, HIGHLIGHTS missed Mrs. Mary Hulit, an eighteen-year veteran with service at Nassau Street, JW, and CP. Best wishes!

THERE WILL BE NO great rush to fill out mini-grant applications for State aid in developing and promoting better ideas in teaching, materials, and learning activities this year. Why? Because the grant program has been discontinued. There may be new programs - or adaptations of other awards - but to date there has been no official notification of any replacement for this incentive grant plan.

WEDNESDAYS HAVE CHANGED: the Professional Growth Program took advantage of a full day before the students came to school and thus will not be using released time until mid-October. Plan to keep your child in school until 2:40 pm, Monday through Friday for all of September. Wednesday, October 18 will be the first 12:45 pm early dismissal time for students.

Garbage News for Borough & Township

Borough and Township residents were alerted this week to some changing situations regarding garbage.

Township: If your garbage is picked up by the disposal service that collects under contract to the Township, you must separate burnables from non-burnables. The engineer's office says a lot of households haven't been following this requirement.

Put paper, garbage and other burnables, in a suitable container. Put tin cans, glass and anything else that won't burn, into a separate container.

Rubbish, like leaves, grass, branches, rocks and so on, isn't included in the collection contract. You have to dispose of these yourself.

Burnable garbage is collected every Monday and Thursday. Trash is collected the first and third Thursdays in Districts 1, 4 and 5 and the second and fourth Thursdays in Districts 2 and 3. If you don't know what district you live in, call 921-7077.

Borough: Starting October 1, the Borough's collector will pick up garbage six days a week. The borough will be divided into three areas—to be announced. (The additional cost won't be felt until the next contract is negotiated.) Borough residents have been putting out more trash and garbage than expected; hence the extra day.

Worse Than Waste of Money.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

A question attributed to Abraham Lincoln reads: "If you call the tail of a donkey a leg, how many legs has a donkey?" Answer: "Four, because calling the tail a leg doesn't make it a leg."

In the same way, calling a sidewalk a bicycle path doesn't make it a bicycle path, and calling a bicycle path a sidewalk doesn't make it a sidewalk.

I am a pedestrian, a bicyclist, and an automobile driver. I am strongly in favor of increased use of bicycles, and I admire Mr. Moffatt's persistence in wanting to make this possible. But I think that what has been done so far is worse than a waste of money.

1. The sidewalks that have had curb stones at crossings beveled are little used by bicyclists, who prefer the streets. Why?

2. Most of the sidewalks are too narrow for more than one bicycle. Many of them are too rough, with pavements that have been forced upward by tree-roots. Many of them are both too narrow and too rough. They are even too narrow for one bicycle to move at a reasonable bicyclespeed.

3. Bicycles on sidewalks made walking dangerous. And the official sanctioning of the use of some sidewalks for this purpose gives youngsters the idea that all sidewalks may be legitimately used by involved with our school bicyclists. Count, some day, system, even to the minor the number of bicyclists using extent of just being parents, the sidewalks on Nassau all know of problems that Street in the central business require somewhat more district. Should walking be discouraged in order to encourage bicycling?

4. I assume that there is an ordinance forbidding the use of sidewalks by bicyclists, but teachers, the school system I have never seen a policeman contains far too many in-enforce this rule.

5. If the Borough Council teachers. Whereas the good and the Township Committee ones tend to move on or up-wish to encourage bicycling, wards, the bad will stay until they ought to realize that it they are moved.

cannot be done by the half- A successful school system measures that have been is one that can keep good taken, and that it must not be teachers and rid itself of the done at the expense of danger bad ones. I would be more to pedestrians.

ARTHUR MENDEL, 30 Nassau Street

Green Acres Signs Criticized. To the Editor of Town Topics:

There was a time, not so long ago, when people cared about the look of this unique community. Why, even the color of the parking meters was chosen for its receding quality.

NOTICE

Letters to TOWN TOPICS "Mailbox" should be typed, double-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. Letters longer than 500 words may be edited or omitted entirely, at the discretion of the editor. Letters on subjects not specifically related to the Princeton area may also be rejected.

What has happened to the good sense and good taste of our local government to allow the frightful, disfiguring GREEN ACRES signs to appear in our most visually attractive neighborhoods? And the cost of those signs—a shocking, unnecessary expenditure of money! "Green Acres" had nothing whatever to do with the creation of our lovely Marquand Park, and even if it did, we don't need or want those signs. Won't somebody please take them away!

Complacency Criticized

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The satisfied and almost complacent attitude of School Superintendent Houston as indicated in the interview that you published in TOWN TOPICS (Aug. 30) should not be allowed to pass without comment. Those who are involved with our school bicyclists. Count, some day, system, even to the minor the number of bicyclists using extent of just being parents, the sidewalks on Nassau all know of problems that Street in the central business require somewhat more district. Should walking be discouraged in order to encourage bicycling?

name but one, albeit a serious problem: although we are ordinance forbidding the use of sidewalks by bicyclists, but teachers, the school system I have never seen a policeman contains far too many in-enforce this rule.

5. If the Borough Council teachers. Whereas the good and the Township Committee ones tend to move on or up-wish to encourage bicycling, wards, the bad will stay until they ought to realize that it they are moved.

TRANSFORMATION: One would never know from the architect's drawing of planned renovations to 360 Alexander Street that this office building began as a car wash.

Newly-Formed Princeton Firm Buys Car Wash On Alexander Street to Convert to Office Space

Gateway Development Company, consisting of Philetus H. Holt III, A. Perry Morgan Jr. and Kenneth M. Rendall, has acquired the Princeton Car Wash building and land at 350 Alexander Street.

The car wash was built about 15 years ago by Frederick P. Lawrence of 177 Library Place, who died two years ago. The business ceased operation in June of this year.

Situated on a little over one acre of land, the building will be converted to office use with Holt & Morgan Associates, architects occupying a portion of the 7700 square foot space. Rendall-Cook & Co., formerly Edmund Cook & Co., will also relocate there when renovations are complete. There will be space available for perhaps two other tenants.

The principals will each have a garden outside their respective offices at the exit and entrance to the car wash tunnel. An atrium will be created in the center, linking what was the service bay to the tunnel at the rear. A skylight over the atrium and light entering from the gardens and new glass walls will illuminate an essentially windowless building.

There will be parking for 38 cars. Plans with a few minor revisions were approved by the Site Review Board at its meeting Monday. A contractor has been lined up to make the renovations, and it is hoped the space will be ready by December 1.

"It's a natural building to convert," says Mr. Rendall. "We just need a floor, side walls and drop ceilings. The trough on which the cars rode will be great for bringing in electrical conduits and telephone lines."

Mr. Rendall added, "We feel that Alexander Street is the up and coming area of town, perhaps the entrance to Princeton if Washington Road should be closed by the University. Hence the name Gateway Development Company."

Mr. Rendall will be leaving space at 190 Nassau Street that has been occupied by his predecessor firm for several decades. Nassau Savings and Loan, which owns the building, has announced plans to expand its own building at 194 Nassau, and the expansion would occupy space in front of 190 which is set back from the street. Holt & Morgan is currently in 20 Nassau Street, where tenants are embroiled in a controversy with the owner over announced heat cuts on Saturdays.

film will be shown. The price of the luncheon is $2.

Princeton Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will meet on Thursday, September 21, at 2 at the Princeton YWCA. Joseph Schmeltz, naturalist with the Mercer County Park Commission, will present a talk on "Man and His Environment," illustrated with color slides. Membership is open to all individuals over 55.

The Princeton chapter of American Field Service will hold a meeting for students and parents interested in the Americans Abroad program on Thursday, September 21, at 8 in the Princeton High School library. Students who have returned from abroad will be on hand to tell of their experiences and answer questions.

The Woman's Club will hold a tea for new members on Thursday, September 21 at 1 at All Saints' Church. Delegates to the Citizenship for Girls at Douglass College, Pam Rago and alternate Wendy Nelson and their mothers will be guests of honor.

The hostesses of the day are Mr. Martin J. Reef, chairman, and Mrs. L.L. Burns Sr., decorations with Mesdames Anthony Altieri, Akira Asano, Theodore Barth, John Bayer, Alda edford, B. E. Bergeson Jr., William Boyd, Raymond Brickley, Milton Brum, Lawrence Burnham, George Bush, Russell Carter, Dudley Clark, Joseph Dennen, Robert Dicke, Miss Esther Dilworth and Albert Durgom.

The YWCA International Club will meet Thursday from 8-10 at the YM-YWCA, Paul Robeson Place, for an open house and organizational meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Funeral Home Established Here in 1914 Announces Name Change to Mather-Hodge

Peter Hodge

One of Princeton's two funeral homes has added a new name to its title.

Peter Hodge is continuing the business begun in 1914 by the late Samuel Southard Mather and continued by his son, Maurice Mather, who is now semi-retired. The firm is now known as the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, and business is conducted at 40 Vandeventer Avenue where it has been since 1926.

Mr. Hodge joined Maurice Mather in 1971 as his business manager and junior partner. In 1977 he was made president and continued to buy shares of the business as Mr. Mather gradually retired and moved to Pennington to be near his children and grandchildren.

Born and raised in Bay Head, Mr. Hodge attended Pennington Prep School. His father was the coroner for Ocean County, the equivalent of today's medical examiner. Once he thought he would become a medical doctor, but both parents died suddenly, putting an end to the thought of long years of schooling, and he was drafted for two years of Army service.

Working With People. Having been exposed to death through his father's work and knowing that he liked people, he decided to become a funeral director instead. He

NEW SCHEDULE SET
For Nassau Church. Nassau Presbyterian Church will institute a new Sunday schedule this week.

A single worship service will be held at 10, followed by a 15 minute coffee period at 11. From 11:15 to 12:15 there will be church school and adult education. From 11:45 to 12:30 brunch will be served.

The new schedule comes partly as in response to a questionnaire sent to all members of the congregation in the spring. Questionnaire responses urged a stronger adult education program. By moving to a single worship service, Dr. Wallace Alston, senior minister, will be free to lead an adult class at 11:15 as will the other pastors, the Rev. Leslie Kolbjornsen and the Rev. Blain Aldridge.

The new schedule also permits families to worship together and parents to attend class while their children are at Sunday School. The brunch servings for nearly two hours are expected to relieve the noon cooking burden at home and provide warm fellowship at church.

Dr. Alston will preach this Sunday.

SERVICES LISTED

By All Saints'. A full schedule of Sunday and mid-week services has resumed at All Saints' Episcopal Church, All Saints' Road. On Sunday, Holy Eucharist, using the Book of Common Prayer, is held at 7:30 a.m. Family Eucharist is celebrated at 9, followed by church school and the adult forum, and Holy Eucharist is celebrated again at 11:15.

During the week there is a service of Holy Eucharist on Wednesday at 9:30 a.m., and daily, Monday through Friday, at 5:30 p.m. The Holy Eucharist on Monday is followed by Anointing and the Laying on of Hands for Healing. Confessions are heard by appointment with the clergy.

The Rev. A. Orley Swartzentruber, Ph.D., is rector. Serving as priests' associate are the Rev. George C. Alexander and the Rev. Peter R. Powell, a doctoral candidate in Old Testament at Princeton Theological Seminary. Assisting Fr. Swartzentruber and Fr. Powell in teaching confirmation classes are Robert Gross, a graduate of Princeton Seminary, and William Alexander, Dean of Students at Westminster Choir College. Parish musicians are David Agler, music director of the Syracuse (N.Y.) Opera Company; Nancianne Parrella, a member of the faculty of Princeton High School, and Harriet McCleary, a member of the faculties of Westminster Choir College and Stuart Country Day School.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Princeton Pastors Association will meet Wednesday at noon at Nassau Presbyterian Church.

The Women's Association of Nassau Presbyterian Church will meet Sunday at 12:30 immediately after brunch. This is a radical departure from previous meeting times and is an attempt to bring all women of the church together at one time: working women, mothers of small children, those who do not go out after dark as well as the faithful standbys.

Dr. Wallace Alston will present the opening Bible study of the year, on the Gospel of John, the main study theme in the circles. The Rev. Leslie Kolbjornsen will also tell her impressions of women of Russia. Husbands are invited.

The Third Thursday Singles will meet Thursday, September 21 at 8 at Congregation Beth Chaim, Village Road, West Windsor. There will be a rap session with refreshments. There is a charge of $1.50 to cover costs, and everyone is welcome.

The second annual Antique Show sponsored by Beth El Synagogue, The Knights of Pythias and East Windsor First Aid Squad Explorer Post, will be held at Quakerbridge Mall Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A variety of antiques and furniture as well as a demonstration of tombstone rubbings will be featured.

The show will be in progress as long as the mall remains open: Friday and Saturday, 10-9:30 and Sunday, 12-5. For further information, call 443-3043.

What a difference a Bilco Door makes!

Here's the way to add new beauty to your home. Replace that wooden hatchway with a modern, all steel Bilco Door. It's ruggedly built, weather-tight, and so easy for everyone in the family to use! What's more, it will make your basement more secure against intrusion. And it will pay for itself many times over by saving repair and replacement costs.

If your home was built without the convenience of a direct basement entrance, ask us for Bilco's new handbook "How to Add Valuable Living Space to Your Home."

Stop in and see our display. We'll give you free literature on how to do it. Or, we can suggest a man to install it for you.

Real Estate Prices Here Not Excessive, Most Brokers Feel, But Median House in Princeton Is Now Worth about $140,000

Bought or sold a house lately? If so, you've been dealing with one of Princeton's biggest industries — the real estate business.

There are 27 firms belonging to the Princeton Real Estate Group, and they employ, in high-pressure, seven-day-a-week jobs, about 300 "sales associates."

Jim Firestone, president of the group, says the 27 includes all firms in the area. The group defines "area" as having your main office within a three-mile radius of Nassau Hall. Most firms belong to the Mercer County Board of Realtors as well, and the prickly relationship between the Princeton "Group" and the county "Board" is an interesting story in itself.

But getting back to Princeton real estate....

What everybody talks about, and what made you gulp hard, if you moved here from out of town, is "those prices!"

And what must be in the back of your mind, is why there should be 27 real estate firms in a fairly compact community of only 27,000 people.

"Yes, we have an exceptionally large number of agents," says Audrey Short, a former president of the Princeton Group, "but without the industries that surround Princeton, and bring in thousands of employees, we'd still have only the ten or so we had a few years ago."

California Compared. "Princeton prices aren't high," shrugs W. Bryce Thompson IV. "A two-acre lot is $45,000; in California, you'd pay that for a third of an acre. Princeton has good schools and snob appeal."

Just to give you an idea where Princeton stands in the neighborhood, the median house in Princeton is $140,000, according to the man everyone acknowledges as the biggest broker in Princeton, John T. Henderson. In Hamilton Township, houses in the low $40,000s are common; in Lambertville, a frequent figure is around $46,000.

One broker, who doesn't want his name used, talked frankly about Princeton prices.

"Houses overpriced? Well, Greenwich, Connecticut, and some parts of California like Beverly Hills, are higher. I have a real estate friend in Greenwich who likes to tease me by saying Princeton is just a slum."

Numerous Factors. "It's increasingly hard to tell what a property will sell for because all kinds of things can influence price. Suppose a seller is in a hurry, or suppose a seller says, 'That's my price' and won't budge.

"There is no rule for pricing. We recommend some room for bargaining but no set percentage. Most buyers expect to bargain with the owners."

"If you're a buyer and you already live here, you can take the time to shop thoroughly. If you're from Kalamazoo and you fly in to buy a house over the weekend — and a lot of people do that — well, it's different. Things like these, in fact, could make a five- to ten percent difference in prices.

"And, since the market generally sets the price, it's hard to say that prices are 'too high.'"

Real Estate is Big Business in Princeton. In a series of three articles, TOWN TOPICS will touch on various aspects of this bustling trade. This week, an overall view. In subsequent issues—the ethical questions involved in real estate and how you, too, can become a real estate agent and take the easy road to instant riches.

Where Increases Are Highest. In Princeton, he says, the houses that have risen most dramatically in price in recent years are those on the "tree streets" — Pine, Chestnut, Linden, Maple — and those in the Markham, Pelham, Wilton neighborhood. These houses are now going for $100,000 to $115,000.

This broker believes the "best buy" in Princeton is any great, big house. You get more for your money.

In contrast, he says the "worst buy" is any really attractive small house in a good location, say, the western section of the Borough. "Proportionately, the least amount of house for your money," he advises.

Mr. Firestone thinks Princeton price quotations lately have been higher than they should be, but not necessarily "too high," as in California. (Everybody cites California).

"The owner sets the price, but he really has no way of knowing," he says, adding with a sly grin, "Choose a reputable broker, who'll show you sales figures for other houses. Set the highest possible price, tempered by reason."

The Broker Knows. As a pro, Mr. Firestone likes to see people turn to brokers. "Without the real estate business," he declares, "people would tear each other apart."

An owner thinks $50,000 would be about right for his house, but any broker could tell him it's worth $80,000. Or, an outsider comes in, he's heard about Princeton prices so he pays $150,000 for a house that a broker could have told him was worth only $90,000.

"And why price your house at $200,000 when it's only worth $150,000? It's a waste of time, because the bank will turn down the mortgage."

Everybody who owns a house — and isn't interested in selling right now, but still you never know — has that uneasy question, "Will prices keep going up?"

There is still some room on the up side," the man who asked anonymity believes, "but how much I don't know. I think we would need a severe economic dislocation before Princeton real estate prices start to go down."

For the buyer — and even for the seller — free-enterprise capitalistic competition doesn't influence prices in any way, in contradiction to everything you learned in Economics I.

Seller Is the Client. Yes, 27 brokers are fighting to sell your house. But that doesn't necessarily mean you'll get any more for it. Yes, 27 brokers are competing for your business, if you're a buyer, but that doesn't mean you'll pay any less for the product.

And incidentally, it's the seller of the house who is the real estate agent's client.

News Of The THEATRES

TURGENEV, TO OPEN

When McCarter Season Begins. A six-play season including classics, a world premiere and "rediscoveries" has been formally announced by Michael Kahn, producing director of McCarter Theatre. The season will open October 6 and run through April 22.

One of the masterpieces of Russian theater, Ivan Turgenev's "A Month in the Country," will open the season October 6, with Tammy Grimes and Paul Hecht making their McCarter debuts. This bittersweet comedy has not received a major production in the United States in some two decades. It will be directed by Mr. Kahn.

McCarter will introduce a new American playwright with the world premiere of "Put Them All Together" by Anne Commire. Directed by Mr. Kahn, Lois Nettleton will play Maggie, a young woman struggling to be an ideal wife and mother against the obstacles of an overactive child, an uncomprehending husband and the expectations of the society in which she lives.

"Put Them All Together" was the fifth of six staged readings in last year's first Playwrights at McCarter series. It will open November 3.

One of the most elegant and penetrating hits of the 1930's, "No Time for Comedy," by S. N. Behrman, will be the third production of the 78-79 season. Patricia Elliott, who won the New York Daily News Drama Critic nomination for Best Actress for her performance of Siri in McCarter's production of "The Night of the Tribades," will play a glamorous actress who battles a wealthy predatory female for her husband. Gerald Gutierrez, stager of last season's New York hit "A Life in the Theatre," will direct. Opening night is December 1.

A stage adaptation of one of Henry James' tales, "The Aspern Papers," by Michael Redgrave, will open on January 26, directed by Mr. Kahn. In this drama a ruthless publisher tracks down the love letters of a long-dead poet and ends up in a desperate game of cat and mouse with the poet's ancient mistress and the old woman's shy, spinster niece.

A Jacobean classic, "The White Devil" by John Webster, one of Shakespeare's contemporaries, will receive its first production on the east coast in more than 20 years. Mr. Kahn will direct. "The White Devil" will open March 9.

Bernard Shaw's, "Heart-break House," an ironic comedy about the ease with which men and women fiddle away their lives while worlds burn around them, will conclude the season. Alan Schneider will direct.

Subscriptions to the McCarter Theatre Company's 1978-79 drama season will be available through the run of the first production, "A Month in the Country," ending October 22. For information call 921-8370 or write McCarter Theatre, Box 526, Princeton.

THE PLAYERS FOUR

For New Season. A seedy hotel in Baltimore and a sophisticated English country house provide the settings — but not in the same play — for a quartet of plays to be presented over the season by Princeton Community Players.

"The Hot L. Baltimore" will launch the season November 3, playing for three week-ends. John Hollowell will direct.

Lanford Wilson's comedy explores the lifestyles of the residents of an old Baltimore hotel which is about to be torn down.

"A Taste of Honey," described by the Players as a more serious play than "The Hot L. Baltimore," is Shelagh Delaney's 1959 drama about an English working-class girl and her unwanted pregnancy. An alcoholic mother and a variety of other problems bear in on the girl, in what director Don Gordon calls "this tender, bitter comedy drama." Performances will be given three week-ends in January, starting January 12.

"Mary, Mary," Jean Kerr's comedy about a divorced couple who get back together again in order to solve the husband's tax problems. Kitty Lun, the director, calls it "a 1960s drawing-room comedy."

Martha B. Jones

Mrs. Jones, herself a graduate of the New School, is a well-known teacher and pianist who has performed nationwide in piano recitals as soloist and duo - pianist and with symphony orchestras. Last season the New York Times praised her Carnegie Hall recital as "a fine piano debut."

Mrs. Jones studied piano with Frances Clark, president of the New School, from early childhood through college. She received her Bachelor of Music degree from Westminster Choir College in 1959 while Dr. Clark headed the piano faculty there. In 1960, when Dr. Clark and Louise Goss opened the New School for Music Study, Mrs. Jones served as one of the founding faculty members. She studies currently with Erno Balogh, well-known pianist and composer who was a student and personal friend of Bela Bartok.

Also trained as a Montessori instructor, Mrs. Jones has developed a series of music history recordings for young children. The records are used in hundreds of Montessori classrooms in the United States and Europe. Mrs. Jones continues her association with the Montessori movement through workshops and concerts for children.

Mrs. Jones has lived in Washington, D.C. for the past 15 years, where both she and her husband, Sanford Jones, were active in Montessori schools. Mr. Jones, also a graduate and former faculty member of the New School, has just been appointed director of St. Michael's Montessori School in New York where he and Mrs. Jones and their five children will make their home.

THREE TEACHERS ADDED

To Piano Group. The Princeton Piano Group has added three new pianists to its staff of six. Diane Saldick and Marvin Rosen, both graduates of Princeton High School, will join the staff this year in addition to Ruth Sanborn, who has been involved in many musical activities in the Princeton area.

She received her B.A. in music theory, composition and piano performance from Goucher College where she was a teacher assistant in the piano department and taught music in the Baltimore public schools. She has studied with Jewel Staum, Dianne Rivers and Agirado.

Mr. Rosen, PHS '71, studied music theory, took lessons on the bass and played in the orchestra at the high school. He earned a B.A. in music education from Trenton State College, where he studied with Shirley Batchelor, and an M.M. in musicology from Manhattan School of Music. He is currently in the doctoral program at Teacher's College, Columbia University, and has given numerous piano recitals in the Princeton area.

Ms. Sanborn earned her B.A. from Lebanon Valley College and has also studied at Syracuse University, the Orff Institute in Austria and the Eastern Cooperative Recreation School. She has taught music at Miss Mason's, Stuart and Princeton Adult Schools as well as Far Hills Country Day School. She has also directed children's concerts and recreation programs for adults, family groups and high school students.

Returning to the piano group are Betty H. Stoloff who will act as the director while

IT'S NEW To Us

NEW "KSAR ES SOUK"
Has Fine Moroccan Carpets. A very impressive selection of luxurious Moroccan carpets is being shown at Ksar Es Souk, a new shop at the corner of Nassau and Harrison. Their traditional designs in beautiful soft colors have been hand-woven in 100 percent wool by native craftsmen and they are excellent buys, because John Fenty, the owner, selects them personally and imports them, himself.

Oriental carpets have been important for centuries, greatly desired for their beauty, painstaking craftsmanship and durability, and they are still splendid investments today.

John and Jacqui Fenty are a young New Jersey couple who toured Europe, then came to rest in Morocco for seven years during which John learned to speak Arabian. They became interested in the handsome Moroccan and Berber carpets and John soon established a thriving business buying the carpets and selling them to private dealers in Amsterdam, Copenhagen and London.

Dreaming of settling down and starting a family, they returned to New Jersey in LUXURIOUS MOROCCAN CARPETS in traditional designs and glowing colors are featured at Ksar Es Souk, a new shop in town. John Fenty, owner, is shown with some of the many carpets he selects and buys directly from native craftsmen. All have been hand-woven of 100% wool and are equally at home in traditional or contemporary settings.

March 1978; their dreams were realized when son, fan, arrived and Ksar Es Souk became a reality.

Origin of Carpets. Most of the Moroccan carpets on display at Ksar Es Souk come from the province of Rabati; the Berber carpets are made in the middle Atlas mountains. They are comparable to Turkish and Persian rugs and display Moroccan adaptations of Turkish and Persian designs. The pile and wooling are 100 percent wool and contain 175-225 hand-tied knots per square inch, insuring a lustrous appearance and durability.

John Fenty returns to Morocco four times a year to renew his friendships with the rug makers and to purchase their jewel-toned rugs. He has learned which patterns are most appealing and designates those that are to be woven for him.

The favorite designs and motifs of customers—coats of arms, zodiac signs, their homes or names—can be graphed out and woven to order in the colors preferred.

The best quality carpets are made by hand in factories, as opposed to those made at home by families, using wool from their own sheep. The factory owner is usually an educated man of discerning taste with the capital to supply wool of superior quality. Dyes can be carefully controlled and designs kept to stable dimensions under his watchful eye.

Identifying Designs. The Moroccan carpets have a central medallion that identifies the province of the carpet's origin. Each wool fiber has been triple twisted for elasticity and durability and the carpets will last for several lifetimes, mellowing with use. The Berber carpets have a background of undyed natural wool with geometric designs in shades of brown. The fibers used in these carpets are single twisted, producing a more rugged appearance.

Among the many carpets on display now at Ksar Es Souk are several Moroccan carpets from the province of Rabati, with their graceful central medallion on a field of color, bordered with an attractive design. Variations of this motif are shown in a choice of cream, rust, rose or royal blue carpets. An earth-toned Rabati has an eight pointed star of cream and beige on rust, which is centered on a field of brown.

Fes, the ancient center of art and education, is also celebrated for its "Fes Blue", a soft rich shade used as a background for some of the carpets made in that city. You can see one of these carpets at Ksar Es Souk, designed with a triple pyramid border in royal blue, powder blue and cream.

A striking carpet from the province of Kenitra with a red hexagonal field, displays a central medallion in royal blue, gold and navy. Sale, a fishing and pottery village, is represented by a gold carpet featuring a hexagonal medallion and a double border in brown.

All designs go right through the carpets, giving a look of tapestry to the back. In the summer, the pile side can be placed face down with the tapestry side up, for a smoother, cooler effect.

Grand Opening. You will have a wonderful opportunity to purchase these marvelous carpets at up to 20 percent off when Ksar Es Souk has its grand opening sale from September 13th through September 23rd. Most of the carpets are 7' x 10' and regular prices range from $900 to $1300.

"Ksar Es Souk" is Arabian for "Market of the Big House". The shop is located at 343 Nassau Street and is open 10-6, Tuesday through Saturday; Thursday evening to 8:30, and by appointment.

Christmas Needlepoint at H.P. Clayton

It's still September, but in just a few days it will be Christmas at Clayton's Yarn Shop on Palmer Square. The shop is planning a gala Christmas week, September 18th through the 23rd, to display its collection of Christmas needlework projects and get customers off to an early start on Christmas gifts, Christmas tree ornaments and Christmas accessories for the home. The shop will be decorated for Christmas and a festive atmosphere will prevail.

Each day a 10 percent discount will be offered on one of the following categories: needlepoint canvases, knitting yarn, kits, books, accessories, and Persian yarn for needlepoint. Customers are invited to register daily for the prize of the day; no purchase is required. At the end of the week all the daily entries will be collected and a drawing made for a grand prize of $25.

Large and small Christmas stockings can be needlepointed in a variety of joyful seasonal designs; a stocking with fairy tale charm shows a cozy underground mouse house with a mouse family engaged in Christmas activities. A cross stitch kit contains a white sampler style stocking with red and green ABC's and cross stitch designs. Rabbits skating and carolers singing decorate Christmas stockings in crewel kits.

A tempting selection of Christmas tree ornaments includes a tree-top angel and Barbara Eyre's artistic rabbit or pig, on needlepoint canvas. Petit point tree ornaments in kits contain either small squares displaying Christmas symbols, or larger, two-sided ornaments in a choice of appealing characters. Crewel tree ornaments in kits are "Gingees", copies of gingerbread cookies, crewel embroidery on felt or Beatrix Potter's Peter Rabbit and friends.

Delight family and friends with Christmasy needlework touches all through the house. Among the many accessories to be needlepointed are four coasters in a kit, showing Christmas scenes, a wall hanging depicting the "Twelve Days of Christmas" and a beautifully decorated stuffed Christmas tree, 18 inches high. Colorful pillows in a variety of Christmas needlepoint designs — Santas, woven ribbon effects, old-fashioned scenes — lend holiday cheer.

Santa on his way down a chimney is shown on a latch hook rug to be worked in acrylic yarn. Heirloom Christmas balls in three sizes are sectioned to show Christmas scenes embroidered in crewel. Crewel illuminates a Christmas prayer: "Little prayer be on your way, bless our friends on Christmas Day."

lawn and Urken's has Patco and Vaughan grass seed, Ortho and Weedone garden and lawn products, limes and fertilizers. Ames' fine quality rakes, shovels, hoes, spades—guaranteed against defects for a lifetime—help get the job done from start to finish. Now celebrate with a cookout—Urken's has a variety of grills and accessories and the popular Weber Grills are now being sold at bargain prices.

Home Security Aids. To protect your home from illegal entry, install a single or double cylinder deadlock on your exterior doors. Both Schlage and Kwikset have very strong reinforced locks with case-hardened bolts that combine beauty with security. "Install A Lock" is a wraparound plate, to be used with a keyed knob, that covers and replaces a conventional skeleton key-type lock.

Urken's will make a free security inspection of your home and provide a free estimate on the types of locks needed plus installation charges. The store will install locks with a couple of days' notice, and if several locks are ordered, they can be adjusted to open with a master key. Urken's also has a new and unique burglar alarm that runs on sound, by Systems International.

You can protect your family from fire with battery operated smoke detectors by Captain Kelly, First Alert and Norelco. For the next two weeks, Norelco smoke detectors will carry a rebate of $5.00, bringing the price from $19.99 to $14.99. Fireproof safes by Sentry are available in small to large sizes and will protect your personal papers and possessions, if a fire should occur.

ART In Princeton

...AND LAUTREC

In Lithography Exhibit. "The Color Revolution", an exhibit devoted to color lithography in France from 1890 to 1900, is now on view in the Rutgers University Art Gallery in New Brunswick, and will remain until October 29.

In conjunction with the exhibit, which the gallery regards as a major one and which is supported in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, the gallery has scheduled two special events. One, to be held Sunday, October 8 from 1-3 p.m., is a symposium, "The Social Repercussions, Past and Present, of Late 19th-century French Art."

Participants will be Susan Sontag, who will speak on "The Social Repercussions of 19th-century French Posters in the 20th Century;" Gabriel Weisberg, curator of education and art history at the Cleveland Museum of Art, who will speak on "The Late 19th Century in France," and, as moderator, Phillip Dennis Cate, director of Rutgers University Art Gallery.

At 3:30, the gallery will show the film "The Lumiere Years," documenting the round-the-world trip in the 1890's of the Lumiere Brothers.

A Cafe Concert. On Thursday, October 28, the gallery will sponsor a "Cafe-Concert Parisian" at 7 p.m. in the Saloon, 394 George Street, New Brunswick. A re-enactment of a gay nineties cabaret evening, the "Cafe-Concert" will feature Ruth Kay, who will perform as the 1890's singer Yvette Guilbert, whom Toulouse-Lautrec made famous in his posters. "Guests" at the cafe will be Toulouse-Lautrec himself and other artists of the time. At 9, the films "Moulin Rouge" and "Lautrec" will be shown at the gallery.

Reservations, at $15 per person for Friends of the Rutgers University Art Gallery and $20 for others, may be arranged by calling 201-932-7096. Included in the price are a French menu, beer and wine.

The exhibition itself documents the history of color lithography in 19th century France, with some 200 works by 50 artists. Early history is shown through the posters of Jules Gheret, often called the father of French lithographic posters.

Material incorporated into the exhibit includes books, color lithographic prints and such items as an 1893 treatise on lithography for artists, and complete sets of color lithographs by Bonnard, Vuillard, Denis, Lautrec and the eight-by-twelve-foot poster called "La Rue," by Steinlen.

The exhibit is based on Andre Mellerio's 1898 book, "Original Color Lithography," which has been translated and reprinted in its entirety in the catalogue. Exhibition and catalogue have been organized by Dr. Cate and Sinclair Hitchings, keeper of prints of the Boston Public Library. The exhibit will travel to the Baltimore

Museum of Art (November 2-December 31) and in the spring, in reduced form, to the Boston Public Library. The 132-page catalogue has 32 four-color reproductions, text, and the Mellerio translation.

Only one man in sports history has ever been chosen to the college football Hall of Fame, the pro football Hall of Fame AND the baseball Hall of Fame ... The only man to achieve this is Cal Hubbard ... He was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame for his many years as a big league umpire ... Before that he had been an All-American lineman and an All-Pro lineman in football, and was elected to both the college and pro football Halls of Fame — becoming the only man ever selected for 3 major sports Halls of Fame.

Which head coach in the National Football League today once ran for the U.S. Senate? ... Answer is Bud Wilkinson, coach of the St. Louis Cardinals ... Wilkinson ran for the Senate from Oklahoma in 1964.

Of all the field goal kickers in the history of pro football, which one has the best percentage of successful kicks? ... The all-time leader is Don Cockroft of Cleveland ... Cockroft has made 67 percent of all his field goal attempts — and that's the best in NFL history.

Early Days of Pre-Season Practice Indicate Tigers Will Have Improved Ability to Score

Time is narrowing before Princeton University's 1978 football season opens at Ithaca on September 23, and there are still numerous decisions to be made on the Tigers' starting lineups. But one highly-welcome development already appears to be taking shape: there are clear indications that the Orange and Black will have a stronger offense than its followers have seen in a number of years.

When Frank Navarro spoke at the press conference held to announce his appointment as head coach in late December, he outlined in some detail his plans for installing the Veer offense. Well executed, it provides both balance between running and passing and multiple options for the quarterback. In concept, it pressures the defense to the extent that it cannot close down against both the pass and the run.

"We will play with two wide outs," Navarro said, stressing the need for his backs to be able to serve as receivers as well as ball carriers. "The quarterback must be able to run as well as to throw."

"We will throw when the opposition permits us to. Some games, we could pass 30 to 35 times because the defense is set to stop our run. The next time out, we might throw just 15 times because the defense is set to stop our passing attack."

Early Test Successful. Eight days after the players had begun to practice the complex veer ball-handling, and just five days after initial scrimmages had been held, chances for success of the new offense appeared bright. With junior Ken Barrett installed at quarterback, the Tigers ran up four touchdowns against Wilkes College Saturday, gaining the kind of confidence in the offense that will be essential if they are to break out of the long seven-year skein of losing football.

The attack was balanced — two of the scores came on passes to split end Rich Keefe and fullback Fred Rosenberg — and Barrett went in once from three yards away. The fourth TD was credited to the defense, linebacker Andy Hvidston grabbing a blocked punt as he might a pass interception and running better than 30 yards into the end zone. Wilkes, a Division III team which, of course, has had the benefit of spring practice, scored twice to make it a 28-14 final.

Navarro has called the four-way race for quarterback a wide-open affair between Barrett, junior Steve Reynolds, senior Steve Garza and sophomore Mark Lockenmeyer, but Barrett's solid performance Saturday must have given him a leg up on the job, and it will be surprising if he does not start against Cornell a week from Saturday.

Whether Princetonians head for Ithaca, drive to the Meadowlands a week later for the Rutgers game, or wait for the home opener against Brown on October 7, they will find the veer formation a much different sight than the Power I in use for the past two years. Navarro believes in using the whole field — his wideouts are not far from either sideline — and when the quarterback keeps or pitches out, lateral ground motion can be extreme.

Lineup Taking Shape. Although pre-season personnel switches, particularly under a new coaching regime, are fairly frequent, a sizeable majority of those assigned starting positions before practice began are likely to be the final selections. Senior Dwight Coleman, who has started the last 15 games at left tackle, has been slowed by a ham string pull, but is expected to be in top shape for the first game. He is one of five two-year lettermen available to form the interior line on offense, a wealth of experience rarely enjoyed by any college team. Tim Manahan, converted from guard to tackle, will pair with him. Co-Captain Greg Bauman, an All-Ivy choice as a junior, and Frank Paolucci are the guards, with Andy Stephens at center. The latter was inserted at the last minute as a starter at Ithaca two years ago because of injuries to players ranked above him, and no one has been able to dislodge him since.

AERIAL CATCH: Rich Keefe came on the Princeton football scene quickly last year as a sophomore, nailed down the wide receiver job and is established there this season. His 17 receptions, which led the team, averaged 12.1 yards.

There isn't much weight there, even by Ivy League standards — the small size of its linemen has been a Princeton problem for some time. Manahan and Coleman, the tackles are around 220; Bauman at 228 is the heaviest, while Stephens is a mere 205. All will be called on to block opponents generally bigger than they are, but they get the job done.

The wide-outs will be Rich Keefe, who came very fast last fall as a sophomore and makes numerous catches of an unlikely nature, and classmate Vince Battaglia, whose action last season was curtailed by an injury early in the schedule. Jeff Dalrymple, at tight end a key figure in the Veer, saw action last fall as a reserve in all nine games and is battling senior Ed Arlin, a two-year jayvee, for the starting job.

Barrett at quarterback will work with fullback Gary Larson and tailback Fred Rosenberg if the pre-season chart holds up. Larson started the first six games last year, was hurt against Penn, but still has more experience than any back on the team. Rosenberg has considerable ability but is being pushed hard by junior Jeff Pyros, a kickoff return specialist last year, and sophomore Cris Crissy, who had a standout season as a freshman. The name is worth remembering — Crissy's speed and ball-handling ability should complement the veer offense to perfection. If Larson is slowed by a muscle pull he has experienced, Rosenberg may go to fullback and Crissy could be the starting tailback.

10 Lettermen on Defense. The Tigers will start lettermen at every position save left end on defense, and can make it 11 if senior Ken Foote beats out junior Steve Rowles for that job. Foote won letters as a fullback in both of the past two seasons but has been switched to bolster one of the positions hit hard by graduation. Rowles learned his trade as a jayvee last fall.

Bob Piselli, the only lettermen among the defensive ends not to graduate, is the likely starter on the right side of the line. Already veterans as juniors, lettermen Joe Lundie and Matt McGrath are the tackles, with two-year letterman Pete Funke continuing in his capacity as nose guard. Here, the size is a bit more impressive: Lundie and McGrath are both 245, Funke, 224.

Solid experience is available at linebacker, where Bob Ehrlich, the co-captain with Bauman, and Andy Hvidston return as two-year lettermen. The latter was second All-Ivy in 1977 and both will be in the running for top honors this fall.

Jerry Peacock, another senior with letters in each of the past two years, will go at one cornerback position, paired with either or Dan Bennewitz or Dave Foote, both of whom saw duty with the B squad last fall. Two more seniors, Paul Converse and Bill Powers, are the deep backs. Powers will again do the punting and classmate Chris Howe the placekicking. Sophomore Alan Darling has considerable range as a backup to Howe.

Players who did not see action against Wilkes were scheduled to scrimmage Brooklyn College this Wednesday. Thereafter, it will be all intra-squad hitting until September 23 arrives.

A year ago, the Tigers lost their first three games to Dartmouth, Rutgers and Brown by a total margin of 10 points, scoring only one touchdown on each occasion. With pre-season practice barely half completed, indications are strong that the long drought in point-production may be coming to an end.

DOUBLES PLAYOFF WON

By Cohen-Wang-Wyckoff. Jerry Cohen, Gerry Wang and Harry Wyckoff won the mens evening doubles township playoff title in West Windsor by defeating Tom Boyer, John Herman and Bernt Midland, 6-0, 7-5. The Boyer - Herman - Midland combination had finished in a tie for second place in the early league but had defeated two teams to compete for playoff title.

SENIORS' PLAY HELD

At Springdale Golf Club. A missed short putt on the 18th green of a playoff match Saturday was all that kept Walter Hankin and Bill Quakenbush from a sudden-death finish in the annual Men's Seniors Championship at Springdale Golf Club. The two had completed two days of medal play last month deadlocked at 159 for the title, which Quakenbush won last year, with Hankin runner-up.

On the 18th tee of the playoff match, Hankin had a three-shot lead, but ran into a variety of problems on the par 4, 383-yard water hole and finished with a 7. Quakenbush had a putt of less than three feet to draw even, but the ball stayed out.

The winners in various age brackets, based on net scores, were: 55-59, Oliver Houghton, 133; 60-64, Bob Lewis, 135; 65-69, Stuart Drier, 137; 70-75, Ross Shrader, 138; and over, B.E. Bergesen, 161.

Play also began last weekend in the annual President's Cup tournament, with 32 qualifying Saturday and 18-hole match play based on full handicap starting Sunday. The results:

Dick Thompson, the medalist with a 67, over Art Morgan, 3 and 2; Jack Sweeney over Gene Gillespie, 5 and 4; Glen Miller over Bob Denby, 3 and 2; Stuart Drier over Bill Carey, 1 up in 19; Ross Shrader over Lester Robbins, 2 up; Bob Hargraves over Fred Short, 4 and 3; John Boneparth over Larry McHugh, 8 and 6; Dick Querns over Bob Cronin, 7 and 6.

Also, Dick Bradley over Charlie Foster, 1 up, 20 holes; Wilbur Young over Don Shaw, 6 and 4; Dave Savage over John Ellsworth, 7 and 6; Bob Lewis over Fred Gallagher, 2 and 1; George Ford over Bill Middlebrook, 2 and 1; Bob Crothers over B.E. Bergesen, 2 up; and Donovan Ellis over Alan Poole, 4 and 2.

Play will continue Saturday and Sunday, with the semi-final and final rounds the following weekend.

PHS Rebuilding Line as Start of Its Football Season Nears

Dan Cowen
6-0, 210-lb Tackle

Second of three articles on prospects for the 1978 Princeton High School football team.

Of the eight lettermen returning to the Princeton High School football team this fall, half are linemen.

Guard Jimmy Harris and tight end John Forrey are co-captains of this year's squad (along with quarterback Kieran Esposito), while Harris's twin brother, Cal, will be at center, after three years of playing behind veteran Cory Easter. The fourth is Jordan Paul, whom PHS coach Jim Beachell calls "my No. 1 lineman" and who was All-Conference last year at defensive tackle. At 6-3, 195 pounds, Paul is one of the few big men and will anchor the line. Gone are such standouts as Easter, Brian Cleveland, Peter Gorman, Karim El-Meligi, Chris Cahill and Mike King.

Although Beachell reported that he "was very happy with the people we have on the offensive line," he will have to engage in extensive shuffling and experimenting. For one thing, junior class candidates are few, limiting his selection. "Last year we tried to get as many kids in the game as we could; this year it won't work. A lot more are going to have to play both ways."

In addition, to get more points on the board Beachell has made some changes in an offense that last year was shut out twice, held to one field goal in another game and one touchdown in three others. Only against St. Anthony, when it ran up 44 points, did PHS ever score more than two TDs in its nine games.

Burden on Line. Because Beachell must fill every position in the backfield with a new face this year, the burden of getting the offense moving will fall on the line. Beachell does not want to tip his hand about the changes he had made other than to say he has altered the system of blocking. "There'll be more double teaming but basically we'll look the same."

"We're trying to develop an attack that fits the players, not vice versa. We're pretty flexible. We'll work with what we have and what is best for us."

Does that include more passing? "If we can pass, we'll pass. I love to pass — always have," said Beachell, "but you've got to have the people who can throw and catch. Our biggest problem last year was that our quarterback didn't come around until the end of the season and we had no one to back him up."

Like the backfield, the PHS line will not be big. "We don't have the size," acknowledged Beachell, "but we'll be pretty quick."

Gabe Sasso
5-11, 185-lb Tackle

In addition to Paul, Forrey and the two Harris, other senior line candidates include Dan Cowen, a 6-0, 210-lb. tackle, and Vito Porcaro, a 6-2, 200-lb. plus tackle, who once weighed 300. However, he is out for the first time.

Behind Harris at center are Elio Pirone, 5-11, 175 pounds, and Greg Davidson, 6-½, 185, a defensive tackle last year on the jayvee squad. "He loves it, he wants it, he's paid the price," commented Beachell, who reported Davidson beat a bout with cancer as a freshman.

Sasso Improved Player. Challenging Jim Harris at guard are Phil Clark, (5-11, 160) and Gabe Sasso, a tackle last year. He is 5-11, 185. "Sasso's a much-improved player. He's worked hard and he should help us a lot," predicted Beachell.

Cal Harris

Dean Pannell, a defensive back on the jayvees last year, is vying for a starting role as tight end, but Beachell reported he did not play as a sophomore and is behind in experience.

Juniors hoping to earn a starting berth on the line include tackles Eric Vieland (185 lbs.) and John Goeke; guard Chris Gabrielson and newcomer Dave Leiggi, both 5-11, with Leiggi 20 pounds heavier at 180; and Jacques Hoffman, a wide receiver. The latter is small at 5-4, 130 pounds.

Two candidates for tight end are Chris Green and James Mack.

HERMINE FINKENZELLER, STRUCTURAL ENGINEER

I suppose it's a bit unusual for a woman to be a structural engineer. But I am and my husband is not, although he's very good at his job. I've been designing automotive components for 15 years. From my experience, the Audi 5000 is the most intelligent 15½ feet of engineering on the road today.

Women will like this car. A lot. They'll appreciate that we didn't devote half the car to the power plant. Instead, my colleagues developed a remarkable five-cylinder engine that has plenty of power, yet it doesn't take up unnecessary space. So the car is very roomy and comfortable inside. In fact, the Audi 5000 is the largest German luxury car for the money. And that's something a lot of men will appreciate.

PHS Soccer Coach Believes Conference Title Is Within Little Tigers' Reach This Season

"From what I've read, everyone is picking St. Anthony to win. We're going to fool them all; we're going to sneak in."

Starting his third year as head coach of the Princeton High School soccer team, Ed Beacham turned the long-dormant sport around at PHS last year when he guided the Little Tigers to a 10-8-1 overall record and a 7-3-1 log in the Colonial Valley Conference. It was one of the best seasons ever for the Blue and White. As he indicated above, he hopes to fool everybody again this year.

PHS SOCCER CO-CAPTAINS: Fullback Dan Miller (left) and Tom Bolster, a halfback, are co-captains of the Princeton High School soccer team which will open its season Tuesday at 3:45 against visiting Trenton High. Princeton surprised last year by posting a 10-8-1 record—one of its best ever.

In post-season play, PHS almost won the Central Jersey Group 2 state championship but was eliminated, 1-0, by Lawrence High, which has won seven state titles. Now, Beacham is predicting: "I look for us to be at least as good if not better than last year. I think we're more skillful."

Beacham acknowledged that he lost a lot of key players from last year's squad, including All-Conference sweeper back Dave Miller, Trenton. What does he know about the Tornadoes? "Only what I've read," replied Beacham, "and I've read they're all good."

More Skill. "With those kids, it was hustle, hustle, hustle all the time. The Crown in 1977 with a 9-1-1 players coming back have record, while Lawrence more skill; it's a question of finished second, ahead of whether they're willing to mix third-place PHS with a 6-2-4 record."

PDS Plans Fitness Day

The physical education department at Princeton Day School announces its first annual PDS Fitness Day to be held Sunday, October 1, at 9 a.m.

The day will feature four events enabling all members of the PDS community to participate in some event. Students, faculty, parents, staff and alumni have their choice of a three-mile walk, one-mile run, six-mile bike ride or five-mile run.

The theme will be "Everyone's an Athlete." The event is open only to members of the PDS community.

A $3.50 entry fee will cover the cost of T-shirts and certificates for participants. For entry forms or further information contact the athletic department at PDS-924-6700 ext. 31.

PHS will open its season Tuesday afternoon against visiting Trenton at 3:45, a team it upset last year in sweepstakes game, Trenton. What does he know about the Tornadoes? "Only what I've read," replied Beacham, "and I've read they're all good."

Notre Dame won the Colonial Valley Conference in 1977 with a 9-1-1 record, while Lawrence more skill; it's a question of finished second, ahead of whether they're willing to mix third-place PHS with a 6-2-4 record."

Following Trenton, PHS will oppose Hopewell Valley, Princeton Day School and West Windsor, all two days apart.

Goalie Is Weak Spot. If the team has a weak spot, it is at goalie, Beacham conceded, where Norman Lewis, a senior, and sophomore Brent Robinson are vying for the starting assignment. Lewis opened up in goal in a first-season scrimmage Monday against Hillsborough. The Little Tigers have another scrimmage set for this Wednesday against Peddie in Hightstown.

Heading the list of returning veterans are Ron Celestin, a native of Haiti, who led PHS in scoring with 14 goals. He is a junior halfback. He will be joined in the starting lineup this year by younger brother, Franz, a sophomore.

Co-captains of the team are Tom Bolster, a wing and halfback, and Dan Miller, a fullback. Bolster scored three goals before the first period was half over in the Hillsborough scrimmage and he figures to team with Celestin to provide the bulk of the scoring this fall.

Two other seniors are veteran sweeper back David Reed and fullback Andy Lesh, up from the jayvee team. Two junior starters are halfback Bruce Lifton and midday Chris Oates.

A sophomore who will be a starter, according to Beacham, is Jay Bienkowski, while another sophomore likely to play is Roberto Francois. Like Celestin, he is from Haiti.

Last year, Princeton High won its battle to gain respectability. Now, Beacham says, he would like to go from there. "We used to battle for second place...now I think we've got as good a shot as anyone."

The Little Tigers and Beacham clearly want more.

As for sophomore line candidates, they are, for the moment, more notable for their numbers than anything else. At guard are Stephen Lidz ("very impressive, very much improved"); Greg McGuinn ("coming on strong"). Dan Miller, the younger brother of Dave Miller (last year's standout defensive back until he was sidelined for the season with a leg injury), Steve McDonald, who may be moved to the backfield because of his "fine hands," and Chris Marrow. Marrow didn't play last year but Beachell reports that he is strong and has a good attitude.

Tackle candidates are Andrew Harris, Joe Petrocelli, 203 pounds packed on a 5-3 frame; and Marco Nini, 5-11, 210 lbs. Nini dropped out as a freshman but is doing well this year, says Beachell.

Les Spann, who has the size (6-2) and the weight (185) is listed at center on the pre-season chart. Another sophomore center is Frank Wittaker.

Jess Turgeon and Pat McAvonia are candidates for tight end. Others interested in the position are split end David Yim, Judd Petrone and Bennett Raglan, whom Beachell said was the fastest sophomore on the squad. Paul Miles may end up on the line or be shifted to tailback.

Yes, he admits, he has to do a lot of rebuilding but when asked to assess the line situation before the start of practice, Beachell replied, "I'm not wholly unhappy with it."

CAN YOU TOP THIS?

In PDS Soccer. When Princeton Day soccer coach Tom DeVito decided to take a year off from coaching, he left his assistant, John Jamieson, process, they captured their records that should stand for a hard act to follow. The Panthers finished their first undefeated season ever last year, winning 14 of 16 contests, and tying two (Pingry and Lawrenceville). In the season and career scoring process, they captured their records that should stand for several years. But don't shed any tears for Jamieson just yet. He has a solid nucleus of Walters, the team's main man first string players returning, on offense, who set single plus some capable reserves.

Don't look for another un-beaten fall, but figure this Johnny Rodgers last year, team to end comfortably back, with three capable above the .500 mark, and defenders in front of him, possibly with another prep captain Dave McCord, sweeperback Joe Lapsley and title in its pocket. co-captain Doug Fine at the stopperback position will be flanked by Ralph Ross and Billy Ross.

Up front, Steve Pagano will be a left striker, Evan Press will be right striker, with Jay Nusblatt between them. That leaves Jono Rush as the 11th man, and he'll have the freedom to roam where needed.

Defense Strong. Jamieson feels that practice has gone well so far, the defense is looking particularly good, but there still are a few rough spots to iron out. The team is well on its way to developing a rhythm to its play.

Two scrimmages against West Windsor and Delaware Valley have produced two victories, but Jamieson is hopeful a scrimmage this Thursday against Vernon High School will provide a stiffer test.

PDS will open its 16-game regular schedule this Saturday against Chestnut Hill away. The teams did not meet last season, but Jamieson reported that Chestnut Hill finished second in its conference. On Wednesday the 20th, the Panthers will be at home against Hightstown, another new opponent. Trenton High has also been added to the schedule.

FIGHT FOR .500

For PDS Football. Unlike its counterpart on the soccer field, the Princeton Day football team has as much tougher time of it each fall, and the season's main struggle is fought to finish above the .500 mark.

Last year the Panthers just slipped below, finishing 3-4-1. This year's opponents are the same and the main question is whether the Blue and White has improved enough to have a good chance of victory against the tougher ones like Hun, Peddie and Wardlaw.

First-year coach Jim Walker, taking over for Rob Hoffman, who departed after the final game last fall, is generally pleased with what his players have shown him so far. It's a young squad with just seven seniors on the 27-man roster, only three of whom are starters.

However, Walker feels the defense is stronger than last year, and the offense more balanced. A runner with the ability of Rob Olsson meant he was given the ball 80-85 percent of the time, and the defense was able to plan accordingly.

This year Walker will have senior co-captain Chris Price at one halfback slot and junior Billy Raynes at the other. Both have good speed. Quarterback Jeff Freda has one more year of experience under his belt, and as a junior should have more success with passing. He'll be throwing to wide receiver Randy Shelton, and tight ends Chris Horan and co-captain Tim Murdoch.

The third co-captain Gordon Harrower will hold down a tackle spot, guards will be John Banse and Fred Jordan, and center Robert Leahy. One tackle spot remains to be filled. Most of the players starting on offense will turn around and play defense, as well.

Season's Opener Tough. Price will give the Panthers an added weapon with his field goal kicking, making the team a definite threat to get at least three points from inside the 20.

The season's opener, which comes this Saturday away, is not one guaranteed to get the Panthers off on the right foot. Chestnut Hill has run all over the Blue and White the last two years, 46-0 and 36-3. It may be closer this time, but PDS still has to contend with George Bailey, who has all the moves, if not the paycheck, of Tony Dorsett.

Walker is hopeful the Panthers can do a little more to contain him this year. Dwight-Englewood will be the Panthers' first home opponent the following Saturday, and should provide more even competition.

Walker is looking for a close race for top honors in the New Jersey Prep League. Wardlaw which was a powerhouse last year has lost some of its players.

Real Estate

Sure, brokers and sales associates will do the best they can for the buyer, but it's the home owner who has hired the agent and who is the real customer.

When you sell your house, there is a commission of around six percent. It may not all go to the same place. Half of it, for example, might go to the firm that listed the house, and half to the firm that actually sold it.

(Real estate people never, never talk about commissions. They all tell a horror story about some hapless broker elsewhere in the state, who ended up in jail because he carelessly mentioned a percentage commission figure. State law is strict on this topic, and Princeton brokers have their own rigid ethical code.)

To a home-owner with a $100,000 house to sell, that $6,000 figure is tantalizing: why not sell it yourself, and keep the six percent? To no one's surprise, real estate brokers solemnly warn everybody not to do this, and the volume of business done by the 27 firms seems to indicate that most home owners agree.

About National Tie-ins. How to pick a broker? Many have franchises with nation-wide real estate groups (and pay to them six percent of their gross revenues, as a rule).

Brokers who do not have these franchises say condescendingly that only the "weaker" houses have them. Brokers who do have franchises glow when they talk

Midget Sign-Up Extended

Registration for the Princeton Midget Football League has been extended through Friday. Interested applicants between 9 and 14, who weigh less than 135 pounds can register Thursday and Friday evenings between 6-8:30 at the Valley Road School gymnasium.

about all the advantages they believe they have in personnel training, up-to-date marketing information, and the like.

The money is in selling land. The standard six percent commission for a house goes up to around ten percent for land. Mr. Henderson, for example, says he does 35 percent of the area's business, with 120 sales associates, seven branch offices and three ready to open.

But Mr. Thompson says that, although he has a small staff and may not sell as many units, he makes more money than anybody. As the owner of land in eight counties within 20 miles of Princeton (up to and crossing the Delaware), he is, by his own estimate, the largest land-owner anywhere around.

There doesn't seem to be much specialization in the business. Bryce Thompson is known as a land man, but the others range across the field. Henderson spends one-half his advertising budget on national media like Town and Country, the New York Times, Philadelphia Magazine, and a variety of publications serving higher-income families. But he sells houses in Hamilton Township with equal enthusiasm.

Brokers vie with one another to offer services. Audrey Short has a service business for newcomers — she'll tell you the best plumber, electrician or whatever. She also gives a one-year warranty on re-sale houses. Mr. Henderson points to a relocation specialty that handles Squibb or Johnson & Johnson executive transfers.

It is impossible, of course, and redundant as well, to describe what's offered by 27 different real estate firms. But the combination of keen competition and the strict ethics code of the Princeton Group, is reassuring to both buyer and seller.
